Jason and Heather

A Note From Us

It is hard to put into words the gratitude that we have that you have taken the time to read our profile to get to know us better. Hopefully as you browse through the information we have provided, you will see that we are a caring, compassionate, and loving couple, who can't wait to share that love with an adopted child. We are so excited at the prospect of growing our family through adoption. We know that this is not an easy decision for you to make and are so thankful that you might consider us to parent your child.

We are Heather and Jason. We came into each other's lives 8 years ago, and quickly became inseparable. While we were dating, Heather was working through college at Franklin University where she received her Bachelor's and Master's degrees in Business Administration. Jason was working in the IT industry as a Quality Assurance Manager. Then almost 5 years ago, we made the next step in our journey together and were married.

We have not yet been blessed with any children. We do have two extremely spoiled dogs Winston, a three year old St. Bernard, and Buster, a nine year old Lab/Great Dane mix who we love very much. Together we have faced many struggles, including years of infertility and several losses. Looking back on those struggles now, we know that we are stronger and more committed than ever to our love for one another and for our desire to have a family. We have continued the hope of expanding our family and are blessed to have the opportunity to do so through adoption. We have so much in life that we want to share with others, and are excited about the possibility of becoming parents!

On top of what we have to offer personally, we also have an incredible family/support system that is anxiously waiting for the chance to grow. Our family is extremely diverse, including multiple races, ethnicities, and backgrounds, and will offer a well-rounded upbringing for any child. Our hearts and home are open to a child of any race, or ethnicity, and our family will support with happiness and love.

We appreciate the fact that you are taking your time to read about our family. If it so happens that you make the decision to choose us as the adopted parents for your child, we will provide a loving, supportive environment for you and your baby. If it is not to be, we wish you luck in everything that the future brings.

With love,

Jason and Heather

About Us

Jason is a Quality Assurance Manager at a large financial firm. He has worked for the same company for the last eleven years and has excelled in his career as he continued to take on more challenging roles. He is a natural leader who thrives on helping others succeed. He enjoys playing golf, playing his guitar, and reading comic books. You can also find him in the kitchen trying out new recipes. Heather is Training and Compliance Manager at a large IT firm and has been with the company just over ten years. She graduated from Franklin University with both a Bachelor's and Masters of Business Administration. Heather loves all things crafty, including making wreaths, scrapbooking, and creating personalized gifts. Both Heather and Jason enjoy spending time with their friends, family, and of course their two dogs!

Their careers have provided them with the financial security that has allowed them to build a house in a growing neighborhood surrounded by wonderful schools and amazing opportunities. They have an unwavering commitment to one another with a bond that strengthens every day.

Family is the most important thing their world. They both come from rather large families (especially Jason), and spend a good deal of time hanging out with them. Every summer they go on vacation with Heather's side of the family, and at least once a month they have a large family dinner with Jason's side of the family. They love spending time with their nieces, teaching them how to swim, playing catch, or kicking a soccer ball.

About Heather

by Jason

Heather is the most incredible person that I have ever met in my life. She is extremely sweet, caring, and willing to sacrifice anything to make sure others have what they need. All of these personality traits are reasons that led me to falling in love with her. She motivates me to be a good person, and has helped me realize how important it is to have strong support always there to help you through both the good and bad. She is empathetic towards others, always worried about taking care of everyone else before herself. Before we met, I didn't really believe in the concept of a soulmate, but life with her has changed my opinion on that concept completely. We were meant to be together, and I am lucky that fate helped us find each other.

Heather loves to show her creative side, and often shares it with others in the form of gifts. Whether it is making Christmas themed candle holders out of repurposed wine glasses, making a new wreath for someone to hang on their front door, or creating string art on reclaimed wood, she is always looking for ways to give to others and share her talent in the form of gifts. When she is not being creative, she loves to relax and play games on her phone, play fetch with our dogs, or sit around with me while we watch our favorite TV shows. She also has a thirst for knowledge that has led her to get a Bachelor's and Master's degree, all while working a full-time job.

I have no doubt that Heather will be an incredible mother. Her willingness to put others first will serve her as she transitions into caring for our child. She will always be their closest companion, their guiding light, and their biggest fan. As we continue down this path of becoming parents through adoption, I can't help but feel as though any child would be lucky to have her as their mother, just as I am lucky to have her as my wife.

About Jason

by Heather

Jason and I have been inseparable since we first met. I knew from the beginning that there was something special about him, and it didn't take long for me to fall head over heels for him. Over the last 8 years, we have shared our life together and it has been amazing. He is my best friend, my rock, my confidant, my biggest supporter, my soulmate, and my partner in life. Jason is one of the most kind, caring, and compassionate men you will ever meet. He is the first person that I go to when I need advice, when I need to laugh, or when I just need someone to listen.

Jason loves to cook, which is so great for me because I was not the best at it before we met! One of the things that we love to do together is cook, and I have learned a lot from him. He is quite good at it and loves trying new recipes. He loves comic books and superhero movies, sports, and golf. He is deeply invested in both his family and in his career. In his personal life and his professional life Jason is a natural leader. People often come to him for advice and guidance, and he is always there to help.

The best thing that has happened to me so far in life is meeting Jason. Now, we are both anxiously awaiting the next best thing to happen to us: the opportunity to become parents through adoption. I know that Jason will be a wonderful father to our son or our daughter. He will be their biggest supporter; he will always be there to pick them up when they have fallen; and he will guide them, protect them, and love them for the rest of his life.

Our Family and Friends

We are both blessed to come from amazing families. We are close to both sides of our families, and we love spending time with them and creating memories to last a lifetime. Our families have been beyond supportive of our adoption journey and are so excited to shower our little blessing with their love!

One wonderful aspect of Jason's side of the family is how close they are and how they are able to maintain close relationships. Throughout the year, we are lucky to be able to spend time together or meet for dinner when it is someone's birthday, or gathering at someone's house 'just because'. We also love spending the Holidays together, and cannot wait to include our children in our tradition of the entire family gathering at his Aunt's house to celebrate.

Each year we are also fortunate to go on a family vacation with Heather's immediate family and Heather and Jason's nieces. We have been renting a beautiful lake house and spending the days out on the boat, and our nights by the fire roasting s'mores and hot dogs. It is so fun to see our nieces make memories and we cannot wait for them to have cousins to share in the fun. Our nieces are particularly excited for a cousin to grow up with! We also happen to live about five miles down the street from Heather's parents so it is not unusual for us to get together or head over there for family cookouts. We also maintain traditions with them of spending the Holidays together.

We really look forward to including our future children in all of these traditions and making new ones as a family! Our families also cannot wait to welcome the newest member and are excited to watch them grow and learn.

Our Home...

Our home is a newly built single family, 5 level split in an established golf course community. It is a four bedroom, three and a half bathroom home, with plenty of space for our family to grow. We have a large lot that is perfectly set up for a new playset, games of football or baseball, or flying kites in the backyard.

We chose to build in this neighborhood because it is full of culturally diverse families and young professionals that are establishing and growing their families together. Our neighborhood is extremely active, with children of all ages ready to make new friends. This community is very tight knit, putting on family nights on the golf course, Mommy and Me nights at the clubhouse, and children's playtime events sponsored by neighborhood parents. The area has two large public parks that are used extensively by our friends and neighbors, a community swimming pool at the clubhouse, and an additional swimming pool/park/athletic facility that is being built for neighborhood use.

On top of all of the great benefits available to us in the neighborhood, we also are lucky to live in a highly rated and highly desirable school district. The school district is always one of the top in the state for education, provides kids with multiple outlets for extra-curricular activities, and has a track record for setting these children up for future success.

Lastly, we are fortunate to live relatively close to many local attractions including a zoo, several museums, and libraries. There are several restaurants, a community center, and state park with boating, swimming, and camping activities all within close proximity.

Thank You

We are so thankful that you took the time to read our profile. As we mentioned, we cannot begin to understand how emotional this time is for you. Our promise to you is that we will provide your child with a loving and caring family, we will love them unconditionally, and we will provide them with stability and the support that they need to achieve their dreams. Never will a day pass that we will not think of your sacrifice and be thankful that you chose us to parent your child.

We have an incredible amount of love, respect, and support for each other, and cannot wait to share that with a child. Building our family is our dream. We, along with our entire family, cannot wait to welcome a new baby and become parents. We thank you from the bottom of our hearts for considering us.
