David & Emily

About Us

Good Day,

We are a loving couple that enjoys life, good food and great experiences. We both have good jobs. Emily works as a child development teacher and David works as a Detailer in an Engineering office. We are very supportive of each other and our professions. When David found a new job 3 hours away, Emily plainly said she would go where ever he was -- no matter where it may be. So we packed up our bags and we were off on a new adventure!

Talking about adventure, exercise is also important to us; we enjoy walks outside, hiking and riding our bikes around our neighborhood. We also like to go to craft shows; one tradition we have is going with Emily's mom to a craft show every year. Other things we enjoy are going to Museums, Zoos and Aquariums all of which are within one-hour driving distance from our home. We like to travel and explore the areas around us. God is a big part of our lives. We actually met each other at church and had bible study together before we dated. We pray every day and His values are incorporated into our lives each and every day.

Our home

Our home is a cozy ranch with a nice size basement, attached garage, and a fenced in backyard great for learning new things, running around, and having fun. It's within a nice quiet neighborhood and away from the main street. There are parks, grocery stores, schools/daycares, and restaurants all within walking distance of our house. Our neighbors are very nice and respectable to us and our home. Buttercup is our 12 year old girl kitty who enjoys cuddling, sitting on our laps, and being next to us whenever possible. She's such a happy girl you can hear her purring from a whole seat away.

About Emily From David

One of the things I love most about Emily is that she truly supports her own ideals, morals and values and stands up for what she believe in. Not only does she support herself but she also supports and stands up for me, my morals and my values. I am also completely confident in her ability to take care of children. Working most of her life in childcare and when I see her with children she glows with happiness and you can see she was created to be with children

About David From Emily

David is very dependable; anytime you need him he will answer and try his best to do what he can. He loves making memories with anyone he is with. His family means the world to him. He is a good man and I believe he will be the best responsible father. I'm very thankful that God gave me this man to show me what a good provider is all about -- a generous, fun, loyal, honest, Godly man.

Our Favorites & Fun Facts

David's Response: "I enjoy being outside as much or even more than being inside of the house. I enjoy playing games, watching TV/Movies, making crafts and working with my hands. My favorite thing to do inside is learning new things, like new ways to work with my hands and fix things around the house. Outside I enjoy many activities including throwing a frisbee around, playing sports, exercising, and having a backyard fire. My favorite thing to do outside would be experiencing nature whether it is hiking through the woods, going on a canoe trip, or riding my bike through the park. I also enjoy making gifts for family and friends. Seeing their surprised faces and smiles brings such joy to my heart. Ultimately my favorite thing in the world is spending time with family and friends and creating lasting memories with all of them. One particular memory is from my childhood. My father and I were in a program through the YMCA with the motto of pals forever. It truly had a lasting impression on my life and we are still pals forever. Other memories include going to the park, skipping stones and hiking in the metro parks. My family always looks for things to do; they could be planned or spontaneous, but we also like to spend time at home.

Emily's Response: "I enjoy talking and creating memories with my husband. I enjoy cooking and taking care of the house. It makes me feel good inside. I like spending time at home with a good movie, under a blanket while counting my blessings. I enjoy traveling and going to different places with family and friends. Taking lots of pictures and creating new ways to see them around the house is a hobby of mine. One of my favorite things is creating different items to give to friends, family, husband, and my co-workers. I love helping out children and I found my calling when my father re-married. He had two sons and I didn't know what to expect. Then I saw their cute face, heard their adorable laughs and that was the moment I knew what I wanted to do in life. Now I work with children helping and teaching them and it gives me such joy in my heart. The children have so much fun in their world; it's a blessing to be a part of it. I love God and feel thankful and blessed by him daily. One of the most beautiful memories I have is when I was a young girl I would sit with my grandma and we would read the Bible and she would teach me about faith, the love of God and to have hope. I enjoy reading his word. Not everyday is the same but they all end the same; with God in my heart.

Our family

We both come from families that love each other and consider family time to be most important. They both enjoy so many different experiences including camping trips, going to craft shows, traveling, playing games and learning new things. Both families enjoy going to museums, art shows and concerts. They like going to see fireworks and doing outside activities. Sadly our immediate family lives about three hours away from us because of David's employment. The good thing though is that we are all very close nit and we travel to see them roughly two to three times a month and they come down to see us the weeks we don't go up. Our parents can't wait to become grandparents. Also, David's cousin works with him and lives near us. He also has little ones. In fact every Monday our cousin and us will have family night where we get together and play games and visit each other. Both families are very supportive of us and our adoption goals.

Greetings,

We were both raised in Christian homes with morals, good values, love and fun experiences given to us from our parents and we wish to do the same to our children as well. Emily works with children daily as a teacher in a Pre-school Day Care center and David works in a growing industry as a detailer for metal buildings. Both of our work hours allow us more time in the day to spend with our future child. We will strive to have fun, instill good teaching experiences and practice peace in our household, making sure that our child will know they are always loved and needed in our lives.

Sincerely,

David + Emily

Building Blocks Adoption Service Inc.

Why Adoption?

This is very important to us. We both wanted children and it is instilled into our hearts to pass on our love, ideals, memories, ethics, and our Christian beliefs. We are unable to have children of our own because of medical reasons. We want to be able to teach our child/children the important values in life -- the value of family being the most important one to teach. We have such fond memories of our childhood and are still creating such memories now. We want our future child to experience fond memories of their own and to pass on the great amount of love that was bestowed on us by our parents and grandparents. We believe that everyone should be loved no matter where they came from or what their ethnicity is, everyone is a child of God. We would be blessed, even if it's just one child, to be able to take care of one of God's children.
