BRITTNEY
+ ZACHERY

HELLO,

We are Zachery and Brittney. We have been married over ten years and, in that time, we've built a solid foundation within our own relationship and in our community. We always try to see the good in life and remember to enjoy the small everyday moments. Most of our free time is spent with family and friends and our house is often the gathering spot. We love spending time with the children in our family whether it be going on adventures or just playing and having movie nights at our home. The kiddos have even claimed one of our bedrooms as their toy room!

As a couple we enjoy going out to dinner or catching a movie. We love to travel and explore new places together. Whether it's a quick day trip or a whole vacation we enjoy soaking in all the little moments we have been blessed with. Our faith is very important to us and being Christians is a huge part of our identity. We both volunteer in kid ministry at church and feel blessed that parents allow us to teach and love on their children every month!

Britt loves to cook and come up with new recipes and Zach enjoys being her taste tester. Every December we host a baking night for Britt's family and our sugar cookies are a big hit at the Christmas Eve gathering!

Zach works at a large manufacturing company.He is only on site three to four days per week, so this gives him extra time to spend at home. Brittney is a registered nurse. She worked at the bedside and for home health many years. During her time with home health, she cared for all ages, including newborn and toddlers. Since leaving the bedside she works in discharge planning, this allows for a regular schedule and she is not required to work weekends or holidays. Her schedule is flexible and allows for her to be off if needed.

We are open to adopting any gender or race. Our family includes African Americans and Hispanics. We feel a child will build a strong identity by knowing and learning about their culture.

About Zach (written by Brittney)

Zach is one of the most passionate people I know. When he loves something or someone, he is completely devoted to them. The way he has loved me and our extended family shows me he will be a great dad. He is ornery, funny, and already knows how to tell a dad joke. He works hard to provide for us and I feel like our family will always be his priority.

About Britt (written by Zach)

Brittney is a very caring and loving person. She has a heart of gold and would do anything for anyone. She is the caretaker of the family. She helps keep me organized in everyday life. She is very dependable and trustworthy. Regardless, if we are on an adventure or our weekly grocery trip, she can make it fun.

Our Home

We live in a 3-bedroom, 2 bath ranch style home. Our home sits on 2.5 acres, but feels much larger as the surrounding 20 acres belong to family.We are on a quiet country road and have a front porch. We also have a large back deck that we enjoy spending time on. We are close to recreation, church, shopping centers, and hospitals. We purchased our home in 2020 and have been making it our own since. This year we are excited to start landscaping.

OUR FAMILY & FRIENDS

We are truly blessed with wonderful families and friends that have become family. Brittney is an only child but has many cousins and childhood friends that have become more like siblings to her. We live next door to her parents and are also within walking distance to other extended family members. All of her aunts, uncles, and cousins live within 30 minutes of our home. Zach's mom and siblings live within 20 minutes of our home. He has 2 younger sisters who are both married, and we have 1 niece and 2 nephews ranging from 7 months to 4 years. We are a close-knit family and have many volunteers to babysit or assist when needed.

We have strong connections with friends from church. Many of them have adopted or worked in the foster care system. They have supported us and have been wonderful resources throughout this process. They all look forward to welcoming a new child to our group!

Dear Birthparent(s),

First off, thank you for taking time to read and consider us. If you would like we are willing to connect and answer any questions you might have. Whether you decide to match with us or not our hope is that you feel supported and find a situation that you are comfortable with. If you choose to match with us your child will always know how deeply you love them and what sacrifice, you made. We admire your bravery and strength. Your child will not only have us waiting to cherish and support them through life but have an entire village waiting to love them.

Why Adoption?

Prior to getting married we had discussed adoption as an option to grow our family. We have seen in both our families how wonderful adoption can be. Zach's mom was adopted from an orphanage at 6 years old. We also have multiple extended family members and friends that have adopted. After experiencing fertility issues and a miscarriage, we decided fertility treatments were not for us. We knew it was the perfect time to start our adoption process.
