Nathan & Kaitlin

About Us

We started dating in 2019

when some of our best friends were getting married and decided to play matchmaker and the rest is history. We hit it off right away and were engaged 8 months later and married July of 2020. We had two things in common that we both knew we wanted in a spouse, we love Jesus and are close with our families. We still live very close to our families and spend time with them regularly. Kaitlin works for online school planning events and runs school clubs for students. Nathan is a general contractor. He can build and fix anything. We both enjoy spending time outdoors. Especially if we can bring our dogs. Nathan plays pickleball 3 times a week no matter the weather. We have a strong community and people that love us so well. We have a small neighborhood, but we are very close. Kaitlin attends a bible study with all the ladies in the neighborhood once a month. We also are blessed with an amazing church family that we spend a lot of our time with.

About Kaitlin

WRITTEN BY NATHAN:

When I first met Kaitlin of course I noticed how beautiful she was, but it was her amazing heart that I knew I wanted to be in my life forever. She is the best listener and cares so deeply for people. She is loving and thoughtful. She loves the Lord, and you can see that very quickly after meeting her. She is a nurturer; I see this with our dogs daily, but I saw it early on. When we first met, she was a nanny for 6 kids. They absolutely adored Kaitlin. Watching her help raise them, the way she would respond and engage with them was beautiful.

Kaitlin is always looking for ways to grow. Her work ethic and drive are impeccable. When her mind is set to something she will accomplish it. I am blessed to be able to do life with Kaitlin. She is an amazing wife and I know she will be an amazing mom.

About Nathan

WRITTEN BY KAITLIN:

Nathan is the most patient, kind and generous person I know. He loves people in such a God honoring way. I always say that the way Nathan treats others is my favorite thing about him. He finds the best in everyone he meets. Nathan isn't naturally outgoing but because of his love for people, he can hold a conversation with anyone for hours. He will drop anything to help someone, no matter how last minute it is. Nathan is very handy being a contractor. He works with his dad and it's such a blessing to watch their relationship inside of work and outside. Nathan challenges me. He brings out the best in me and everyone he comes in contact with. His energy is contagious. You can't be in a bad mood when you're around him. I will forever be grateful that God picked him to be my husband and the father of my future child.

Our Home

We live in a 3-bedroom 2.5 bath ranch in the country.

Nathan and his dad built our home, making it even more special to us. We have 1.8 acres that we are so thankful for, and our dogs are too. We have lots of plans for not only our land but continued plans for our home. We have been here for 2 years and plan on staying here as long as God wants us to. Although we live in the country, we have around 20 houses in our little community. It's not very common to have land and still have neighbors and not just any neighbors, amazing neighbors. It has already been a blessing to us.

Our family and friends mean the world to us.

We are blessed by our families living close to us. Nathan's parents live half a mile from us. Kaitlin's live 5 miles from us. We see them both a few times a week. Our siblings are our best friends. Nathan has 2 brothers and 1 sister. Last year, we gained a sister-in-law and this past June we gained a brother-in-law. Kaitlin has 1 brother, who is good friends with all of Nathan's siblings as well. We often talk about how excited we are for us all to have kids one day that will grow up together. We are the type of family that our whole village will show up to support each other's children in every activity they are involved in. They will never question how loved and supported they are.

We have friendships that are built on God. We pour into each other. Our friends play such a big role in the people we are today.

Dear Birthparents,

We are so grateful that you took the time to get to know us. Your decision to be here shows not only your strength but your deep love for your child. The definition of love is acting in the highest good of another. You love your child so much that you are thinking of their highest good. We love your heart for that.

We pray for more than just our future baby, we pray for you. We pray that God will give you the desires of His heart like He did for us when leading us here. That His desires would lead you to the adoptive parents that God had in mind when creating your baby.

If you choose us, know that your sweet baby will be loved unconditionally no matter their race, ethnicity, or gender. Surrounded by the greatest support system of family and friends. We are confident that they will feel loved by everyone around them and live a life full of joy.

Why Adoption?

For some people, including Nathan, adoption has been on their heart most of their life. Nathan grew up with cousins that were adopted and started to pray about adopting one day when he was very young. Early on in our marriage, Nathan expressed that, but it wasn't until a few years ago when it became a deep desire for Kaitlin. It got to a point in our infertility journey when it really started to weigh on Kaitlin. She begged God for the desires of His heart, to lead us where He wanted us to go. And He did. Kaitlin has had a deep desire to be a mom her whole life, but God gave her a deep desire to become a mom through adoption.
